School board president's belief

Educational services will remain intact here

Pleasanton Joint Elementary School District board president Al Dutchover believes budget cuts will have to come from the non-educational services area of the budget.

In a wide-ranging discussion, Dutchover said cuts should come from the "maintenance, custodial and cafeteria services" portions of the budget.

Dutchover and fellow trustees look at the publication budget last night and acted on certificated salary schedules for 1975-76.

Dutchover indicated the educational programs portion of the budget must remain inviolate. "If necessary, we'll have to trim down on capital expenditures, too," Dutchover explained.

On other subjects, Dutchover was hesitant to go very far afield.

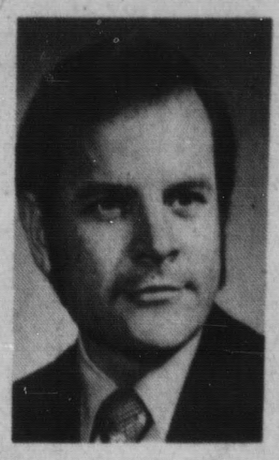
He believes the district's legal counsel Keith Breon has precisely served the functions for which he was hired. Dutchover opined that all board members were comfortable with the Portola Valley attorney.

"His role is one of a consultant on policy and salary and benefit negotiations. I believe he has accomplished this and we're satisfied with the way things have gone.

On one of the teacher association meet and confer demands, for abolishing of teacher vice principal positions, Dutchover said a decision still has not been arrived at. Pressed as to the seeming lateness of the decision, Dutchover added that the staff will be presenting a recommendation within the next couple of weeks.

Asked if the board felt Superintendent Bruce Newlin had established as good a rapport with teachers and other administrators as former chief Rudy Gatti, Dutchover responded affirmatively. "Rudy had a slight advantage in that he was from the area originally (previous experience in Santa Clara and Hayward). He knew some of the people here before he came. However, I believe Dr. Newlin has established very good relations with everyone in the district."

Questioned on the practices of the business office, following some disenchantment voiced recently by Jim Carroll, president of the high school teachers group, Dutchover stoutly defended the methods and procedures employed, noting the estimates that Director of Business Services Doug Rose must make months in advance of the final publication budget.



Dutchover was also in complete accord with the multi-program approach planned for Walnut Grove School starting this fall, including the Fundamentalist program.

On the prospects of a tax revenue increase measure by late 1976, Dutchover was again hesitant to flat-out predict any such eventuality. He felt that there was still considerable hope that state legislators would come forth with meaningful legislation to aid elementary school districts.

He had no answer as to what other alternative there might be to the legislative status quo.

Dutchover also defended the offerings of the summer school program, noting that such classes as "Rocketry" also had related values in the basic subjects.

He gave no response when such classes as "advanced basketball" and arts and crafts were noted.

Five-year program

Fair Association wins construction approval

The State has approved the Alameda County Fair Association's five-year construction program, including $485,000 for construction of the Amador Livestock Pavilion.

The capital improvement project funding includes a $220,000 State grant.

Also included in the 1975-76 portion of the five-year program are $325,000 for relocation and extension of carnival midway and kiddie land area, $65,000 each for Phase II of the Palm Way-Main Gate Plaza dropoff area and landscaping, planthng, lighting of theatre walk and park area. $25,000 is budgeted for demolition of existing livestock barns.

The Amador Livestock Pavilion is the biggest project planned for the next three years.

Board members Tuesday night accepted the resignation of Harry Von Querner, Fremont, who served on the Fair Board for 12 years. He will be replaced as an elected member by Dee Wilson, a present board member who was appointed by Supervisor John Murphy four years ago.

Thus, Murphy will have an appointment to make as Wilson, a Pleasanton resident, takes Von Querner's seat.

Tom Kitayama and Frank Castelucci were re-elected president and vice-president of the board for another year.

Board members heard a multitude of reports, most concerning the recently-completed Fair, at their regular monthly meeting Tuesday.

A report on traffic, Sheriff's and security was held in abeyance pending a public safety committee meet with Sheriff's and California Highway Patrol representatives.

However, it was learned that several previously unreported incidents did occur during the Fair. In one instance, a young white girl allegedly stumbled and bumped a black boy while getting off a carnival ride, precipitating, according to a Fair spokesman, a beating of the girl by three black women.

The Hare Krishna representatives permitted onto the grounds midway through the Fair reportedly were the source of other, minor incidents. In one case, members of the religious sect were apparently moving into wagering lines at the track and attempting to pass on literature and solicit donations. In another instance, Hare Krishna members allegedly were attacked while in the carnival area.

Fair directors approved a contractual agreement with Foley and Burk Shows calling for the Redwood City-based carnival to pay $153,176. The Fair-Foley and Burk pact is in the first year of a three-year contract.

A lengthy discussion on the pact was necessitated due to the Fair changing its childrens paid admissions policy from 12-15 years of age to 6-15. Based on actual paid attendance, Lloyd Hilligoss, Foley and Burk owner, would have had to pay $167,909. As specified in the contract, Hilligoss pays the Sheriff's Department for coverage. Discussion Tuesday revolved around the Fair refunding $14,733 to Hilligoss for payment to the Sheriff as well as the overall formula for establishing of the contract.

Richard McCarthy of the entertainment committee reported that total attendance for the Amphitheatre shows was 52,000 and the number of participants 2,000 at the community hour shows.

Hall said the impact of changing a quarter-horse race to later on the card will have to await further tests."We won't be able to assess the impact until after the Fresno County meet late this summer," the Fairgrounds manager commented.

A look at the other half

From the front, Bicentennial Park and Century House are a vision of languid turn-of-the-century genteel living. From the rear, however, the park remains a tumble of weeds and dusty potholes. The city has spent close to $50,000 on the front half of the three-acre park but has left the rear portion unimproved because of lack of funds. Monday night, however, the city council approved a $3,500 expenditure to pay for seeding and irrigation of the back half as an interim improvement. Work should begin on that project within two weeks. The funds will come from the capital improvement budget.

'Blackmail' says city

Safety loan jeopardized

PLEASANTON - A $12,500 grant the city has requested from the California Office of Traffit Safety may be jeopardized because the state has failed to pass a law requiring motorcyclists to wear helmets.

Traffic Engineer Ken Lamb told the city's Traffic Advisory Committee Wednesday the prospects for the grant "are less than rosy" now because of what he termed virtual "blackmail" on the part of the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration.

That national organization intends to file sanctions against 24 states, including California, for failing to make motorcycle helmets mandatory.

The immediate effect of that sanction will be a reduction of 75 percent in the state Office of Traffic Safety's $1.6 million budget of federal funds for the 1975-76 fiscal year and a freeze on funding for new projects at least until October.

The city's grant would have provided funds for an independent traffic study and would have made a reorganization of the traffic committee possible.

In response to that impending action by the NHTSA, the Traffic Committee unanimously endorsed a protest letter drafted by Lamb which will be sent to members of the California Congressional delegation.

This action, Lamb told the committee, "borders on blackmail because it forces a state agency to lobby in the legislature and get into the business of politics."

Lamb also noted the 75 percent cut in federal funds will virtually shut down the Office of Traffic Safety."

John Bowling, the city's director of Housing and Community Development, at first balked at endorsing Lamb's letter because, while he disagreed with the federal action, he also believes there should be a mandatory helmet law.

Lamb also agreed such a law would be advantageous but he vehemently disagreed with the NHTSA's methods of obtaining such legislation by threatening to cut off funds unless it is passed.

Pressure for such a law should come from the citizens of California, he added, and a responsible state agency should not be forced into bpcoming a lobbying agency at the whim of the federal government.

Robert Hill appointed Foothill VP

Robert Hill has been appointed vice principal at Foothill High School, according to Amador Valley Joint School District personnel director Carl Krause.

Hill came to the Amador-Pleasanton district in 1967 as an eighth grade block teacher, and remained in that position for six years. When Foothill opened in 1973, with freshmen classes only, Hill joined the staff as a business education and typing teacher and has continued in that position up to the present time.

A resident of the Vineyard mobile home park in Pleasanton, Hill has been instrumental in setting up the new business education department at Foothill, in the areas of curriculum and purchasing equipment.

Trustees Tuesday night also adopted a publication budget of $8,008,193, an increase of almost $300,000 over the tentative budget presented several weeks ago.

The increase in funds can be accounted by an increase in estimated average daily attendance (ADA), a hike in state basic aid and income, a "significantly larger" carryover fund from Regional Occupational Program and a major recomputation on SB90.

During the discussion of the budget, Director of Fiscal Services Doug Rose noted apparent haphazard practices on the part of the county. Rose said the county "still has not closed out last fiscal year. We don't know what our ending balance will be." The estimated figure on the publication budget is $253,000.

The ADA estimate was increased from 4,953 to 5,029.

Of the $8 million, $4.6 million will come from local income sources such as secured taxes ($4.2 million) and unsecured taxes ($328,570).

Certificated salaries will take $4.3 million and classified salaries $1 million. Employee benefits are estimated to total $701,977.

In other business before the Amador board, uncommitted bond funds in the amount of $88,354 were earmarked for six district committees, including:

Amador auditorium renovation committee (Pleasanton Junior Women's Club), $12,000; Amador capital outlay committee, $1,500; Dublin High capital outlay committee, $8,000; Valley High capital outlay, $954; Foothill High capital outlay, $31,500; District needs committee, $28,000 for Amador High roofs and $6,400 for gasoline storage tank.

Hillside law approved by Pleasanton council

PLEASANTON — The city council approved the long-awaited Hillside Development Ordinance Monday night with little discussion.

The Hillside Development Ordinance will apply to all property with a slope greater than 10 percent.

Once the Hillside Development Zone is applied to hilly property, said City Attorney Ken Scheidig, that alone does not allow development. The owner must then apply for a Hillside Planned Development Permit, which will govern the type and amount of developlent allowed.

Scheidig added the ordinance will permit the city to regulate growth on the hills and will encourage innovative types of planned developments.

In other action, the council:

√ Prezoned Frank Auf der Maur's three-acre parcel at 3482 Stanley Blvd. to commercial service.

√ Amended the ordinance code to allow carpet and floor covering stores as permitted uses in the central commercial, commercial service and regional commercial districts.

√ Voted to allow picture framing shops as permitted uses in the commercial service district; and √ Approved a 136 percent increase in the city's insurance premiums for the 1975-76 fiscal year.

'Hotcha, oh you kid!'

Amador Valley summer session drama and music students cut a Charleston caper in front of Pleasanton's Cheese Factory to call attention to their production of "The Boy Friend" scheduled July 24-26 at the Amador Valley High auditorium. Flapper-decked entourage then repaired to Dublin for similar hoopla next to Mervyn's Department Store. Curtain time each night is 8:15 p.m. with tickets available at the door. Production is under direction of Leonard Cooper and Joe Sibilia.

Peanuts prize puzzle

"Sold!" says Arroyo Mocho summer school teacher Jane Carrier, awarding a Peanuts puzzle to Mike MacLean, 9. It was Wedenesday morning auction time in the math classes she teaches, and the bidding was fast and furious. Money was poker chips the kids had earned by applying themselves to their work. Bidding was fast and furious for plastic dinosaurs and toy trucks — but there were no takers for a huge pile of clothes.

Alameda County Fair

Jr. livestock sale success

The 1975 Junior Livestock Auction has proven the most successful ever held at the Alameda County Fair, according to Darrel Sweet, head of the livestock department.

Although the gross revenue realized by the auction was down slightly from last year, there were fewer steers sold. And since the larger animals bring about $800 each compared with around $80 for a lamb and $160 for a hog, the individual prices were much higher this year, Sweet added.

Total raised by the auction was $103,488, compared with $106,901 last year.

Number of animals sold was 399, comprising 65 beef, 260 sheep and 74 hogs. Last year there was a total of 376 animals.

Highest price this year for an individual animal was knocked down to the 4-H champion lamb raised by Jamie Silva of Newark and purchased by Silvey Transportation of Newark at $6 per pound.

The following champion stock went at the auction:

Swine— FFA champion, raised by Mark Torchio of Fremont, purchased by George Campiotti of Pleasanton at $2.50 per pound.

4-H champion, raised by Brian Cook, Crane Ridge 4-H, purchased by Livermore Locker at $2.10.

FFA reserve champion, raised by Clyde Mattson of Fremont, purchased by Clyde Becker of Alameda at 90 cents per pound.

4-H reserve champion raised by Steve Phillips of Crane Ridge 4-H, purchased by Gene Caldeira Grading and Paving, Livermore, at $1 per pound.

Beef— 4-H champion raised by Fred Allison of Crane Ridge, purchased by Carl Zwissig of Sunol at $2 per pound.

FFA champion, raised by Joe Jess of Livermore, purchased by Berchem Meat of Newark at $2 per pound.

4-H reserve champion raised by Koreen Michael of Buena Vista 4-H, purchased by Henry and Mary Gonzales of San Lorenzo at $1.05 per pound.

FFA reserve champion raised by Dave Correia of Livermore, purchased by George Campiotti of Pleasanton at $1 per pound.

Sheep— FFA champion raised by David Correia of Livermore, purchased by Johnnie's Meats of Castro Valley at $4 per pound.

4-H champion raised by Jamie Silva of Newark, purchased by Silvey Transportation for $6 per pound.

FFA reserve champion raised by Holly Lopez of Fremont, purchased by Codiroli Ford of Livermore at $1.75 per pound.

4-H reserve champion raised by Janet Volman of Crane Ridge, purchased by Escalona Bros. of Livermore at $2 per pound.

Firm wins grant on sulfer study

A Palo Alto firm received a $277,281 contract for the study of rates of sulfur poisoning for catalysts used in methanol production, according to an Energy Research and Development Administration (ERDA) report.

A total of $2.1 million in contracts throughout the country have been awarded as ERDA is intensifying its efforts to produce synthetic fuels from coal and supplement the nation's diminishing supplies of natural gas and oil.

Synthetic gas is similar to methane (natural gas) and can be used for heating and electricity generation. It is less bulky than coal and less harmful to the enviroment.

Coal gasification is another name for the process and it is eventually hoped that synthetic gas can be withdrawn from the coal without any mining taking place.

A $15 million synthetic gas pilot plant was recently put into operation near the Pittsburgh Center. The plant is designed to convert 75 tons of coal a day into one million cubic feet of methane.

Bicentennial workshop #1 set for tonight

LIVERMORE - The Livermore Bicentennial Organization (LBO) will hold the first of its two brainstorming workshops tonight to prepare for the city's celebration of the nation's 200th anniversary.

Interested groups and individuals wre invited to attend the workshop which will begin at 7 p.m. in the student union building of Livermore High School (Maple Street and East Avenue). The session is scheduled to adjourn at 10 p.m. and the second meeting will be held next Thursday, July 24.

Tonight's meeting will consist of a review of proposed national, state, county and Livermore plans for the Bicentennial, including information on available services, project ideas and organizational facilities.

Participants then will divide up into small discussion and brainstorming groups, reconvening later as the entire group to list ideas and proposals.

Checking out of ideas with friends, organizations and neighbors is hoped to occur during the week between the two workshops and reports and conclusions will be presented and reached at the second meeting.

San Ramon men win county nod

Two San Ramon men have won approval to expand their concrete supply business on Norris Canyon Road in San Ramon, despite the objections of Contra Costa County Planning Commissioner Albert Compaglia.

Compaglia compared the business to the neighboring Rhodes and Jamieson cement plant and called it "doubly objectionable".

However, Glenn Garabedian and Alan Richards will have to return to the planning commission in two years to again seek permission to operate the plant.

They claim that no mixing of concrete will be done at the plant, and that only one truck will work out of the Norris Canyon site.

The vote was 6-1 to allow the plant and 5-2 to require the two men to return for approval in two years.

Food stamp information hard to get in Valley

LIVERMORE - Quick!

Where can you go in the Valley to apply for food stamps?

Just try and find out.

A reporter did, on a Monday morning, and it took about 45 minutes and seven phone calls just to get the address and hours of the local center. (It's in the Good Samaritan Home office, 1779 Barcelona Drive, Livermore, telephone 455-0747.)

It all began with a news release from the U.S. Department of Agriculture announcing improvements in the administration of their food stamps operation.

"Great," said your reporter, "I'll just throw in the address and number of the local center where people can apply."

It was shortly after 11 a.m.

Priding herself on some expertise with the phone book, she checked under "Alameda County Offices." Nothing for food stamps.

"Food Stamps" in the regular listings. Nothing. "Food Stamps" in the yellow pages. Nothing but, ironically, a list of restaurants under "Foods: Ready to Serve."

"Ah!" she thought. "The Pleasanton Health Care Center, resource center for the needy! They'll surely have it! Now, what's THEIR number?"

Not finding it under "P" for "Pleasanton" in the phone book, she lazily dialed Information and was given the number instead of the Pleasanton Health Department. By this time it was 11:15 or so.

"Well," she reasoned, "the Health Department probably has the information too, since nutrition is a part of public health."

She dialed the number. Somebody picked up the receiver in the middle of a conversation, apparently held it there without stopping her conversation long enough to say hello, then hung up the receiver.

For some reason, it was impossible to get through again to the Pleasanton Health Department, although your reporter dialed the number on every line on her business telephone.

Eleven-twenty-two now. Looked up "Health Care Center" under "H" in the phone book and found it, making a mental note in passing that it would be easier for the elderly to spot if it were in block letters like businesses.

11:25 a.m.: Called the Health Care Center; was immediately put on hold for a linute and a half, then nicely thanked for waiting and also nicely informed the Health Care Center didn't have that kind of information. But the receptionist did offer the toll-free number for the county.

11:30 a.m.: Called 846-3277, the county's toll-free general switchboard number, and got a busy signal.

11:35 a.m.: Got as far as the switchboard, but the Welfare Department line was busy.

11:45 a.m.: Got a very bad connection at the county switchboard, but was put through to the Welfare Department. Waited almost a minute while the phone rang and rang before it was answered by a pleasant woman who put the call on "hold" for a minute (by this time your unglued reporter was timing everything with a wristwatch) while she went to try to find the desired information.

"Sorry, we don't have that," she said after checking. "Please call the office in Fremont, maybe they have it."

After protests that Fremont was a toll call, she offered to call them herself and put the Times call on "hold" for almost five minutes.

She got back on the line with the Good Samaritan phone number and address (who would have thought to look under "Good Samaritan" in the phone book?). She couldn't get the hours of operation.

11:51 a.m.: Got through to Good Sam on the first try. "Monday, Wednesday or Friday," reported the friendly receptionist. "Our hours are 9 a.m. to noon and 1-4 p.m. But get here right when the doors open at 9 or 1. It's usually quite crowded."

It only takes an hour to find out where to apply for food stamps. It takes a lot longer to apply for them, according to a Livermore mother who has done it twice. "You need a college education to figure out that application form," she reports (and she has one.)

"And you always have to go back a second time with all your documents: rent receipts, marriage licenses, birth certificates, car payment receipts, medical bills. They give you a whole list of documents you need.

"The wait is terrible both times you go."

Are food stamps meant for the poor and starving and feeble and elderly?

Or only for the hardy and persistent?

Sandia staffers enjoy leisure

It always seems like two weeks' vacation just isn't long enough.

If you take it all at once, there are 11½ dismal months with no possible relief from the daily grind. Only a few holidays (normally seven or so) are left to brighten the otherwise dull calendar.

And if you take it a week at a time, it seems your body just gets used to getting up at 10 in the morning instead of 7:30, when — bingo — it's back to work again.

So next time you're bemoaning the fact that you'll get three weeks vacation after only 15 years of perfect attendance, give a little thought to the poor, overworked laborers at Sandia at Livermore.

Those driven underpaid scientists must somehow stagger along with only 24 days vacation every year.

"Twenty-four days" you say. "Well, that's only just over three weeks. That's not so much."

Wrong, wrong. Twenty-four working days of vacation, or just under five weeks every year.

And everyone — from first year man to 15 year veteran; from nuclear scientist to sanitation engineer — gets all 24 days each year.

Plus 9½ days of holiday. Which includes the day after Thanksgiving, half of December 24 and a floating holiday of the employe's choice.

So the next time you're on the last day ("It's over already?") of your measly two weeks' vacation, you can be comforted by the fact that if you worked for Sandia, you'd only have three more weeks of vacation left.

It's tough to work for a company on government contracts.

Mori placed on fiscal subcommittee

SACRAMENTO - Assemblyman Floyd Mori has been appointed to the Subcommittee of the Assembly Revenue and Taxation Committee on Fiscal Impact Bills by Assembly Speaker Leo McCarthy.

Mori will replace Assemblyman Wadie Deddeh on the six-member subcommittee.

The committee will meet in August to study all of the revenue and taxation bills with major fiscal implications. It was the committee's recommendation that certain bills be researched further before referral to Ways and Means.

There are three major categories of bills to be taken up by the subcommittee. The first is property tax relief, the second is veterans' benefits and the third is indexing, a new idea dealing with the adjustment of tax brackets as related to inflation. This last set of bills is designed to keep the income tax from gobbling up cost-of-living increases in earnings.

After careful study, the subcommittee will make recommendations to the full committee as to the fate of the bills. Some may be held for interim study, if necessary.

Fran Williams and Betty Stallings are two of the volunteers who will be working to get the Volunteer Bureau office into shape.

Volunteer Bureau opens in fall

Since October of 1974, local resident Betty Stallings has been working full time with the Alameda County Volunteer Bureau laying ground work towards establishing a branch of that bureau in the Valley. An opening date for that branch is now scheduled for early fall, with office space on Rose Avenue donated by the Twin Valley YMCA.

The major aim of a Volunteer Bureau is to stimulate involvement of local residents into matters of community, health, education, social and cultural services. Its main function will be the recruiting , screening and referring of individuals and groups of volunteers into non-profit organizations and groups serving valley citizens.

By keeping an up to date file on all agency needs, the Bureau can efficiently refer an eager volunteer into the most appropriate and satisfying situation and can evaluate any need for additional volunteer services in the community. Another important function of the Bureau is to work with agencies who wish to provide better support, training and supervision of volunteers

Any office equipment is one of the spacific needs of the bureau at present. There is also a need for someone who could design and make a sign for the front of the building.

The Junior Women's Clubs of Pleasanton, Livermore and Dublin have and will continue to be significantly involved in the project. Pleasanton Juniors are supplying members to decorate the office in the YMCA and are also researching the community.

Pleasanton Juniors have donated $150 for phone use for the first few months of operation. Junior Women from each community will be contacting local civic groups encouraging their financial support.

The newly formed advisory board is composed of LaVerne Polanco, director Hayward Branch of the Alameda County Volunteer Bureau; Kay Honadel, Livermore School District Volunteer Coordinator; the Reverend Sam Roberson, Community Presbyterian Church; Dora Schoedler, volunteer coordinator for Hotline; Evelyn King, activity director of Pleasanton Convalescent Home; the Reverend Milton Johnson, Holy Cross Lutheran Church; Fran Williams, Pleasanton Juniors; Marg Quigley, Livermore Juniors; Kathy Pierce, Dublin Juniors and interested citizens Bertha Carr, Yvona Musket, Marcy Ising, Betty Stallings and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Griggs.

The advisory board's current effort is towards contacting all agencies utilizing volunteers. They are also involved in investigating possible funding to operate the agency with a part-time director. In the interim, volunteer help and donations will sustain its operation.

Individuals interested in volunteering their services for any length of time, need not feel they must belong to an organization. The Bureau is not an organization which requires "joining." Individuals who feel, from time to time, they would enjoy doing volunteer work without becoming "tied" to a definite organization are most welcome.

Any questions or offers of help can be directed to Betty Stallings at 846-0977.

A gift to say "thanks" was presented to Mabel Barckley, R.N. at an afternoon gathering in honor of her retirement.

R.N. Retires

After 44 years of nursing, Mabel Barckley, R.N., is retiring to Northern California to live with her brother. Mabel "plans to learn how to relax and make the most of her retirement."

Mabel is a native of Pennsylvania and graduated from Jamestown New York University in 1931. She completed her training as an anesthesiologist nurse from the University of Michigan and worked in Ohio, Pennsylvania and New York in that capacity.

In 1941 she came to California to work at Mercy Hospital in San Diego.

Mabel moved to the Amador-Livermore Valley in 1950 with her first job being at St. Paul's Hospital in Livermore. She has also worked as an industrial nurse for four companies building Camp Parks; was the first night supervisor, R.N. at Valley Memorial Hospital; was in charge of the emergeny room at Job Corp at Camp Parks; worked with Pacific State E INiles as an industrial R.N.; worked at the Livermore Manor Convalescent Hospital.In July of 1973 she started as a supervising, R.N at Pleasanton Convalescent Hospital and remained working at that location until her retirement.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Myers, owners of the Convalescent Hospital, honored Mabel with an afternoon buffett gathering of the staff, Mabel's co-workers, crew and friends. A special silver tray was a gift to Mabel from the Myers for her dedicated work as a nurse at their facility. Her co-workers presented her with a plant growing an "ample" amount of money to help her enjoy her retirement.

"Round Robin" answer to needs

One of the nicest things that happens at St. Raymond's Church, Dublin, is the buffet that is prepared by the Women's Guild for anyone of their parish members who has an emergency need.

Under the chairmanship this year of Priscilla Ratterman, it is called "The Round Robin of Food."

Recently one of the parishioners died. His wife was a long time member of St. Raymond's Guild.

The telephone committee begun its job immediately. Desserts were taken to the home in the evening for the guests who might stop over after the Rosary which is held the night before the funeral.

A complete buffet of meats, salads, and desserts of a wide variety were waiting for the family and friends after they returned from the funeral and burial of their loved one.

Freezer tips

To keep your foods well frozen, use packaging that will prevent evaporation. Materials that are moisture-vapor-proof include glass, metal and rigid plastic. Most bags, wrapping material and waxed cartons made especially for freezing are moisture-vapor reistant.

All containers should be easy to seal. Also, be sure to choose packaging that won't crack from brittleness at low temperatures.

Freeze fruits and vegetables soon after they are packed. Be sure to put no more unfrozen food into a home freezer than it will freeze within 24 hours. Usually this will be about two or three pounds of food to each cubic foot of its capacity. Overloading slows down the rate of freezing and foods that freeze too slowly may lose quality or spoil.

Shakespeare au naturel

Ashland, Oregon was made for Shakespeare.

From the Elizabethan stage in serene Lithia Park, to the shops and demeanor of its citizens, the tiny Southern Oregon community is a natural.

To visit the area and not become influenced by some phase of the Bard's writings is to be completely impervious to happenings in the community.

The Oregon Shakespeare Festival is in its 40th year, with performances daily on the outdoor stage and the indoor stage (Angus Bowmer Theatre) from mid-June to September 21.

With the exception of mid-week performances, most productions are very hard to get tickets to. As witness yours truly's ticket capering prior to viewing two productions this past weekend.

In the end, we were fortunate to get tickets to both performances we wanted to see— The First Part of Henry VI and The Winter's Tale.

They are two of the six productions which rotate throughout the summer. Also being presented by the repertory company are All's Well That Ends Well, Romeo and Juliet, The Long Day's Journey Into Night (by Eugene O'Neill) and Charley's Aunt (by Brandon Thomas).

The quality of acting, lighting, costuming and special effects is superb.

The company is madeup mostly of college graduates in their 20s, with a few more experienced actors, actresses and technicians and college and high school-age youngsters rounding out the large entourage.

I have seen productions of Shakespeare in other parts of the country, including internationally renowned groups, that were not nearly as proficient.

Many on stage and back stage are graduates of Bay Area colleges and universities.

Will Huddleston, who is directing The First Part of Henry VI, has this to say about the production at Ashland; "I love the production not only for the rich inter-personal drama usually associated with Shakespeare, but also for its naive use of pageant, rhythmn, and outrageous theatrical devices. These elements makeup an ambitious attempt to squeeze ten odd years of the history of two nations into two hours time.

"The Elizabethans believed, as I do, that children may have to answer for the ignorance and wrongdoing of their ancestors. It is this belief that underlies the play Henry VI, like all kings in Shakespeare, is the living symbol of the state of being of the English nation. Though his father was Henry V, the great hero who brought England glory, his grandfather, Henry IV, was guilty of usurpation of the throne. Henry VI is an innocent, good man, but circumstance makes him the one to pay for his grandfather's seizing the throne. England's military successes in France are spoiled by Joan of Arc and an unsatisfactory, compromised treaty.

The Wars of the Roses, a vicious cycle of civil war, are about to begin. These conflicts will swallow up not only the characters you see before you, but also their children.

"The play is a journey from childish innocence when life and war are random games, to an adult awareness of the mercilessness of history."

In the key roles, Eric Booth Miller scores a significant triumph as Lord Talbot. Peter Silbert is a very believable Henry VI and Randi Douglas portrays Joan.

All three performed the next afternoon in The Winter's Tale, another triumph.

The Oregon Shakespearean Festival is an event that all lovers of theatre must experience at least once.

The weekend visit marked my third return to Ashland. I will not remain away so long in the future.

Legrand set for Festival

French composer and pianist Michel LeGrand has been signed to appear at the seventh annual Concord Summer Festival on August 1.

LeGrand will be making his second appearance at the festival in two years. Concert site is the Concord Pavilion.

"An Evening With Michel Legrand" will include his 45-piece orchestra and the American premiere of Legrand's "Images," a suite for piano, alto saxophone, and orchestra. Jazz alto saxophonist Phil Woods will be featured.

Mayuto, Brazilian percussionist, guitarist and composer, will open the 8 p.m. concert with his octet.

This year's summer festival in the new $4.5 million Pavilion has scheduled nine individually programmed concerts on July 18, 19, 20, 25, 26 and 27 and Aug. 1, 2 and 3. Friday and Saturday concerts are set for 8 p.m., and Sunday performances are scheduled to begin at 7 p.m.

In addition to "Images," Legrand and orchestra will perform excerpts from "The Umbrellas of Cherbourg," "What Are You Doing The Rest of Your Life?", "Brian's Song," "The Windmills of Your Mind," "Summer of '42," and "Once Upon A Summertime". All were written by the French artist.

Legrand received Academy Awards for "The Summer of '42" and "The Windmills of Your Mind."

He began composing for motion pictures in the late 1950s. Since then he has scored well over 50 films, received nine Oscar nominations, three Grammy awards and an Emmy nomination for "Brian's Song."

On Friday evening, opening night for the Festival, the program will feature the Olympia Brass Band, Lee Ritenour Quintet, Sir Roland Hanna's New York Jazz Quartet and Gerald Wilson and his big band.

On stage on Saturday evening will be the Olympia Brass Band, Pat Martino Quintet, Carmen McRae and the Hanna/Fontana Band.

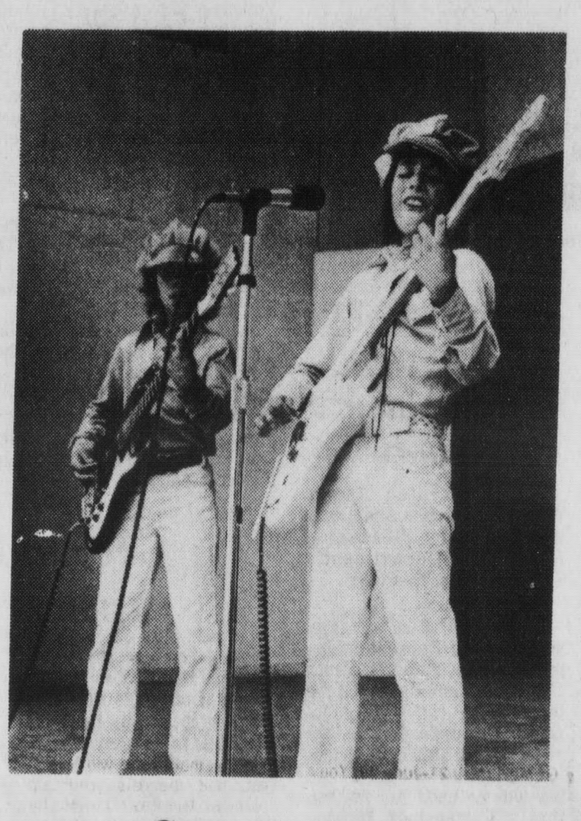
Headlining Sunday evening's program will be the one and only Benny Goodman and his All-Stars, Barney Kessel and Friends, and the Olympia Brass Band.

Next weekend, the Festival will present the Kenny Burrell Quartet along with the L.A. Four and the Sergio Mendes Brasil '77 production.

The L.A. Four is composed of Laurindo Almeida, Ray Brown, Shelly Manne and Bud Shank.

Tony Bennett, the Louis Bellson Orchestra and Dick McGarvin Quartet are set for Saturday, July 26.

Valley residents wishing to make reservations may call the Festival box office at 682-6770. Reserved seats cost $5, $6 and $7.50 and may be ordered through the Festival, P.O. Box 845, Concord 94522.



Stratocasters

The Stratocasters, a rock group, were the winners in the junior division at the Pleasanton Community Hour held last week during the Alameda County Fair. Here, two of the group do a little pickin' and singin'. Members of the group are Ryan Rosowicz, Mike Rodriguez and Matt Clark. Vocalist Walter Magdefrau was the winner in the senior division. In the senior finals held Saturday at the Fair, vocalist Penny Williams from Dublin won the talent trophy.

Bay Area outlets for Shakespeare

Valley devotees of Shakespeare considering the Oregon Shakespearean Festival in their vacation plans may make advance reservations for specific play dates at two locations in Walnut Creek.

The set of six plays, which will be presented on both the indoor and outdoor stages at the sylvan Ashland setting, debuted the week of June 14 and will run through September 21.

Matinee and evening performances are scheduled daily in the Angus Bowmer Theatre (indoors) and Elizabethan Theatre (outdoors) at 2 and 8:45 p.m., respectively.

Productions scheduled this summer include Henry VI, All's Well That Ends Well, Romeo and Juliet, Long Day's Journey Into Night, Winter's Tale and Charley's Aunt.

The Shakespeare Festival is in its 40th season and is enjoying an unprecedented popularity. So much so that 26 performances are already sold out.

Best weekend dates as far as ticket availability are July 11-13, July 25-27 and late August and September.

In addition to the plays, back stage tours and surrounding Lithia Park in Ashland are a "must" when in the Southern Oregon community. The total setting for the plays, in this writer's estimation, is unmatched.

Valley residents considering the trip to Ashland for the Oregon Shakespeare Festival may order tickets through Books Incorporated, 1171 Broadway Plaza, and Civic Arts Theatre, 1641 Locust St., Walnut Creek, or at Books Incorporated stores in San Jose, San Francisco, Palo Alto and San Mateo.

Be forewarned, however, that accommodations in Ashland may be booked solid on the weekends. If venturing into the area, whether by car or via airplane (United flys into Medford), it would be wise to write well ahead for lodging. Medford is also a possibility and is just 20 minutes away

The charm of Shakespeare at Ashland is the lead-in. Musicians and dancers provide an Elizabethan Pleasure Fair each evening before the performance. Actors and technicians lead you "behind the arras" each morning at 10 except Sunday. Guides will show you where and how the productions are put together backstage.

Two of the six plays are from the pens of Eugene O'Neill (Long Day's Journey Into Night) and Brandon Thomas (Charley's Aunt). The festival company draws on young actors and actresses, primarily, with the leading roles taken by the more experienced and Equity members.

The total presentation, almost without exception, is of top professional calibre.

Shakespeare and Ashland have become an excellent blend in summer time. It is an experience not to be missed by the casual or serious theatre-goer.

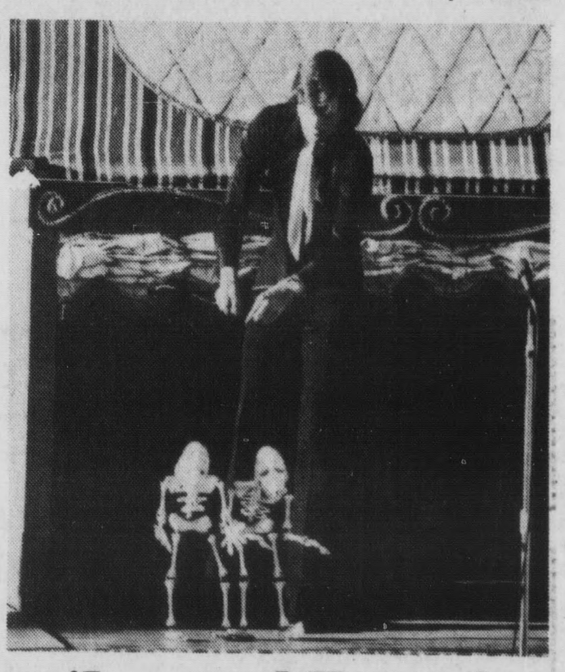
For information contact Polly Grover at 447-0267 or Pat Mueller at 447-0716.



'Lean and Hungry'

One of the most popular performers at the recently - concluded Alameda County Fair were the Tony Urbano Marionettes. Here, one of Urbano performers puts "Lean and Hungry" through their paces. Skilled manipulation of strings, making marionettes appear lifelike in their actions, drew constant applause from crowds, which exceeded 2,000 on many occasions at the Amphitheatre.

SETTING THE SCENE

Bill Hayden

The otherwise totally movie/theatre oriented soul recently ran across a new biography of Louis XVI of France and his queen Marie Antoinette. The book is a fascinating study of these two much maligned characters on the historical scene. Although it plows through material already well tilled, there are certain aspects of it which provide fresh insights into the times, events and motivations of people during that highly controversial era.

Louis, who has always been treated as a bit of a dullard and oaf, comes off as a remarkably intelligent young man capable of making sound decisions under great stress and strain. He, apparently, was also one who could realize the futility of some of his actions when set against the tide of events. His stoic acceptance of fateful moments beyond his control is really the stance of a brave man rather than a cowardly and insensitive fellow.

It is also quite remarkable that Marie Antoinette has been turned from the traditional flibberty - jibbet into a woman of depth and considerable perception regarding her fate in the final days of her life. Her sense of the historical was highly developed. She wanted to be remembered for something more than the libelous, scandalous pamphleteers of her day were willing to give us. She has succeeded, although almost 200 years have passed by before some of the stain has been taken from her name.

Motion pictures have never been noted for accurate portraits of historical characters. In the mid thirties, Irving Thalberg, the famed boy - wonder of films, planned to star his wife, Norma Shearer, as Marie Antoinette. The script was prepared and many of the artifacts and costumes assembled when he suddenly died. It was thought, at the time, the project would be abandoned, but Louis B. Mayer, the nabob of MGM, decided otherwise and the picture was completed at tremendous expense — for that time.

Miss Shearer made a lovely Antoinette. In fact, she was almost convincing as the 15 year old girl swept onto the stage of history by a marriage - alliance between the Austrian Empire and the Kingdom of France. Robert Morley played her youthful husband; John Barrymore essayed Louis XV; Gladys George was a colorful DuBarry and Tyrone Power, then the great romantic lead of the movies, was borrowed from Twentieth-Century-Fox to play Alex Fersen.

It was a very spectacular cast and the settings went beyond the elaborate into sumptuousness. The basic script was taken from Stefan Zweig's colorful biography of the queen and the whole era was captured with a great deal of romantic color. So much so there was criticism that the authors had created a spun - sugar fantasy instead of the bloody reality that was the French revolution.

Now we have Cronin's biography which proves that some of the white washing was justified. Whatever your opinion of the major characters on this historic scene, it was a highly romantic pnd volatile time — one that has caught the eye and pen of thousands of scrivners. Cronin's is one of the best. While biography, it reads like a novel or, if you will, looks and sounds like a great motion picture.

Hark back to a few which have alo covered the field to know why it has been so thoroughly documented. Charles Dickens' version through A TALE OF TWO CITIES with Ronald Colman and Dirk Bogarde each tackling the Sidney Carton role; D.W. Griffith's ORPHANS OF THE STORM with Lillian and Dorothy Gish. There was even an outlandish version in the very early thirties with Norma Talmadge as DuBarry. Even lovely Dolores Del Rio played the DuBarry with a rather odd Mexican flavor.

The Revolutionary period in France is comparable to the romantic aspects of our American Civil War with its glamorization through such works as GONE WITH THE WIND.

Most people enjoy a great story. The lives of Louis and Antoinette certainly provide one.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) A better life is ahead for you and your family. That major deal you've been working on for a long time finally bears fruit.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Get on the phone to that service man or straighten out the mix-up with the store. The odds favor you in tying up loose ends.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You can make up for the time lost yesterday. You're extra-efficient at working today. What's more, the payoff is high.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) A lighthearted summer day that you'll equally enjoy with the family and children, or socializing with closest friends.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Play any hunches you have today about things concerning your home. It could be a plan for redecorating or planting.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You'll be doing something with friends today. Traveling, having them drop in or just calling them would all be happy choices.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) A reward you're entitled to will come your way today in some farm. Look for a raise or remembrance for a favor.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) What appears to be luck to others but is really the result of doing all the right things will bring you something long-desired.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Your instincts are super-acute today. You could probably win on the horses or at poker.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Call that friend with whom you had the disagreement recently. The day's perfect for clearing the air, getting a fresh start.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19 This is the day to talk to the boss about what you'd do if you get that new job that's opened up. He'll be receptive to your ideas.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Take the children to the amusement park today. You'll have as much fun as they will, just watching their youthful exuberance.

Your Birthday

July 17, 1975

A new love interest will come into your life this coming year. It could be a new romance, a baby or even a new social diversion.

WEST ♠ K 9 ♥ 10 6 4 ♦ Q 9 7 2 ♣ K Q 10 7		EAST ♠ 7 3 ♥ J 7 5 3 ♦ K J 4 ♣ A J 8 3

Opening lead — K ♣

By Oswald & James Jacoby

North's raise to two spades is the correct bid with his hand. It is worth eight points in support of spades.

South has 13 high-card points and two doubletons so his hand counts as 15. However, he should revalue his hand upward because an immediate raise allows you to add one point for your fifth trump and two for each additional one. Thus, his hand has become an 18 pointer and he might well jump right to the spade game.

Why does he only rebid to three spades? Because he and his partner were playing standard American in which the single raise might be made with as little as six supporting points.

In their system the simple rebid to three spades said, "Partner, I really should bid game, but am giving you leeway in case you raised me to two with almost nothing.

Hence, North goes on to four.

The hand fit perfectly. South has to lose two club tricks, but can ruff his last club. The six of diamonds is discarded on the queen of hearts and in spite of the spade finesse being wrong South makes his four spades.

Ask the Jacobys

A reader from Winnipeg asks: "Why do you open one club with this hand?"

♠ K J 4 3 ♥ K 7 6 ♦ A 8 4 ♣ K 9 7

This is normal correct procedure and has been so for over 40 years. The idea is to facilitate rebidding while showing at the one level that your spade suit is just a four-carder. When you do open one club with this type of hand and partner raises to two clubs, don't rebid — just pass.

(Do you have a question for the Jacobys? Write "Ask the Jacobys" care of this newspaper. The most interesting questions will be used in the column and writers will receive copies of JACOBY MODERN.)

Fanucchi strikes again

Mike Zampa

As a young boy Dennis Fanucchi wanted to promote. He envisioned himself a Pied Piper of sweat, hailing folks to Yankee Stadium or the Fremont Drag Strip.

While others were selling furniture and mortuary plots, he would be staging Evel Knievel's leap from the Seattle Space Needle in a grapefruit juice can.

He didn't want to sell you the Brooklyn Bridge, he just wanted to hold the world's wheelbarrow racing championships on it.

Life was one big "Super Jock Production," and Dennis wanted a share of the ancilliary rights.

"A schemer is not the word for me," Dennis says, "but I don't know what the word would be.

"Wizard" might suffice after his latest promotional coup. Dennis is trumpeting an 11th anniversary party for his Granada Bowl in Livermore.

There'll be food, music and discount bowling to celebrate the occasion.

The date is July 20, which, it turns out, is not the anniversary of Granada Bowl. That passed on May Day. July 20 is actually the birthday of The Patio Lounge, the bar inside Granada Bowl.

But it's all the same, isn't it? Would people care what kind of grapefruit juice Evel rides? Bar, bowling alley, what's the difference? Let's gt the folks out to hail our center, that's Dennis' gol.

He's been dreaming up schemes to sell bowling in Livermore since he was 20. And more than a few were hatched in the Patio Lounge, or in the adjacent billiards room where he bolstered the weekly pay check.

"The main thing is management and promotion. That's what it takes in bowling." Fanucchi said yesterday when asked about the upcoming 11th anniversary that somehow already passed. "The people who had the place before us didn't promote it right."

Dennis won't say that all his gimmicks were right. There was the time they tried to shoot a promo picture on the roof and the bowling ball fell through into the air conditioning. But he keeps trying.

"My ambition was to be a promotional executive for some sports team, or to have my own ad agency. I had the schooling, but I never got the chance."

Angelo Fanucchi, Dennis' father, gave him the chance when he purchased the then Lucky Lanes 11 years ago. The elder Fanucchi owned a thriving produce business, but decided peaches and plums were not the means to success for a plotter like his son.

Dennis and his brother Bob assumed control of the lanes. Youthful exuberance ("We bowled a lot and gave everything away.") gave way to wiser business practices, and today Granada Bowl is successful. Dennis won't say how successful, but the lanes cater to 2,000 sanctioned bowlers regularly.

The brothers are equal partners, aided by Angelo who manages the bar, his wife who keeps the books, and a sister who is being gently eased into the business.

Of all the clan, Dennis is the most public figure. He's the one to go begging for space in the Livermore sports pages. He also arranges the promotional pictures for an endless string of bowling tournaments.

The quest for the ultimate bowling promo shot is what made him roll a ball across the roof one day. The family never saw the bill for the damaged air cooling unit, but Dennis says it was paid off with a couple of free games

"I get a lot of publicity, and other proprietors always ask me how," Dennis smiles. "And I don't give you guys any payola either."

The Granada Bowl has been "revamped" three times under the Fanucchi regime. Still in the works is an expansion that would swell the size from 16 to 32 lanes It's been on the drawing board for two years, stalled by building code guidelines and spiraling construction costs. "You can quote me though," Fanucchi says. "We're still planning on it."

New equipment is still on order for the day expansion occurs. Dennis hopes it won't suffer the ignominious fate of the ball return that once swallowed a youngster's hand.

The fire department was summoned, but instead of simply switching off the machine to free the terrified youngster, the rescuer dismantled the whole thing.

It was an out-of-town fireman, says Fanucchi. Don't want to alienate potential customers.

The only one Dennis is sure he lost, was the lady who clobbered her own head with a bowling ball.Her thumb failed to pop out at release, and the follow through was a little too pronounced

"She wasn't too happy with us," Fanucchi says. "But I don't see what we had to do with it. It was her bowling ball."

Thin, tough field for girls' golf

Only four girls' teams are entered this morning in the Livermore City Best Ball Junior Championship. But that is where the dogfight should be as the 36-hole tournament gets underway at Las Positas Golf Course.

The Northern California Junior Golf Association's top females are on hand, including the two who combined to win this event last season.

Lisa Baxter of Los Gatos and Hayward's Pilar Dorado combined for a 36-hole total of 159 last summer to win the event by six strokes. Though they both return today, they are no longer a team. The 17-year old Baxter will join forces with Sue Rust, while Dorado, 16, plays with Marti Morris. Both groups tee-off at 8:53 in what should be the highlight of the competition.

At 9 a.m., another strong twosome featuring 15-year old Mary McConalogue will embark on the chase for the girls' crown Mary will be teammed with Carla Duncan.

Out of those three groups should come the winner Friday afternoon .

Dorado was one of the stars of the junior tour last summer, capturing overall championships at the Salinas and Hayward city juniors, as well as the Pasatiempo and Coca Cola junior tournaments. Pilar won the 15-17 age division at the Fresno City and the Del Rio Bumgardner tournaments.

Her chief challenger this season, Baxter, won overall titles a year ago at Monterey Peninsula and Cypress Hill. She was the 15-17 champ at Pasatiempo, Santa Cruz, and the Kaiser and Charles Culver tournaments. She won senior titles at the Peluso and Palo Alto tournaments

McConalogue won the Redwood City senior division, and the junior bracket at Peluso and Santa Rosa.

Baxter and Rust may rate as pre-tournament favorites, since Sue, the 17-year old from Hayward, was a three-time overall winner herself last year.

Another team threatening for the title will be Tonne Carr and Carol Conidi. Carr was a two-time winner in the NCJGA last summer.

The defending Livermore City boys champions, Bruce Zulaica and Doug Poole of Alameda, won't be defending their championship this year.

Instead the field is thrown open to a group of outstanding players including Bill Corbett Jr. of San Rafael. The son of former Castlewood Country Club golf pro Bill Corbett Sr. will team with James Francis Camacho in a 7:15 group at the 10th tee. Corbett won the San Ramon Junior championship earlier this month.

His group will play with a strong title contending team, Fred Tedeschi and Philip Shannon.

Tedeschi finished in second place last year with former teammate Dave Martin. Their 211 total was four strokes off the winning pace.

At 7:08 another pair of favorites will tee-off at the 10th hole, Bryan Pini of Santa Cruz, and Pebble Beach's Greg Geertsen. The two were members of the NCJGA team that last year tied in its matches with Southern California.

Mike Grotewohl, who finished fifth here last year, will play again with new partner Thomas Randolph.

Mark Lafferty and Mike Modesti, who placed fifth last year at Livermore in the 12-14 category, return in the 14-15 bracket.

First tee times are at 6:30 this morning, the last at 9 a.m.

Gaels sleep, Falcons reap

Hitting a scoreless streak of nearly four minutes in the fourth quarter, Dublin High squandered a 12-point lead and lost to College Park, 55-50 in summer basketball sponsored by Allied Brokers Tuesday at Amador Valley High School.

The Gaels, up by 12 after three quarters, and by 10 with four minutes left in the game, failed to score again until only 20 seconds remained. Meanwhile Greg Tubbs poured in eight points in the final four minutes, and Kevin Tracy and John Daley canned five free throws to vault the Falcons ahead.

Tubbs led all scorers with 23 points, and Tracy scored 10. Dublin's Cliff Johnson scored 14 points.

California High carried a narrow lead through most of the fourth quarter, but succummbed to John Sevo's free throw in the final second and lost to the Amador Purple team, 46-45.

Cal rallied in the final period behind Rick Lackey's eight points, but faltered at the finish.

Craig Cline paced the Grizzlies with 12 points, and Larry Walters scored 10.

Ben Cambra of the Purple Gang poured in 18 points. Mike Hansen contributed 10.

Amador's number one team bombed San Ramon, 61-34 in the only other action.

Mike Hill scored a game-high 16 points for the Dons. Steve Mohatt hit 12 points, and Sevo, 10. Jim Yackley down seven rebounds, and teammate Dave Dave Van Norden, six.

San Ramon's Mark Hutchinson had 13 points.

Bowie not exactly a shoo-in MILWAUKEE (AP) — Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn's chances for re-election were placed in jeopardy Wednesday when some of the American League clubs meeting here expressed opposition to him.

Kuhn needed nine votes in each league to assure another seven-year term in office. He reportedly had that much support and more in the National League. But he fell one vote smort in the American League when four clubs voiced opposition to him during a six-hour meeting.

After meeting from noon until 6 p.m. CDT, American League teams broke and went into a joint session with the National League.

It was learned that the NL owners, led by Walter O'Malley of the Los Angeles Dodgers, were hoping to change the American League dissidents' minds and get the one vote Kuhn needed.

There was one report that Oakland A's owner Charles O. Finley, who has been at odds with Kuhn for some time over a number of issues, might vote for the commissioner in exchange for support of a proposed move of his ballclub to Seattle.

"There is absolutely no truth to that," said Finley.

Jerry Hoffberger, owner of the Baltimore Orioles, was present at the meeting.

Hoffberger has also been reportedly opposed to Kuhn because of the commissioner's alleged interference in the sale of the Orioles.

$5,000 for special program

City gets Indian center grant

LIVERMORE - This city will be getting its own Native American center soon.

The Livermore Unified School District has just been awarded $5,000 for a special program for its Native American students. A small committee of parents has decided to set up a central meeting place, separate from the school district, as their first project with the federal funds. They're now looking for a secure, centrally located building renting for about $175 a month.

Dr. Justin Bardellini, the school district's assistant superintendent for education, has been in charge of the committee, which have been meeting since January. Dr. Bardellini's secretary, Barbara Karr, is Native American and has been active on the committee along with chairperson Peggy Hawley, Eugene and Marie Jamison, Bernice Via, Vern Hawley, Lona McCallister (who is in charge of finding a place to rent) and other local residents Membership on the committee is open to any interested Native American parent.

Committee members see their new center as a place where they can keep collections of artifacts and native artwork; a spot where school children can meet for special activities; and a central meeting place for local Native Americans.

They want their children to learn some of the old crafts, beadwork, songs, dances and ceremonies to keep their culture alive. They're also hoping to bring in speakers and to take the children on field trips to the Oakland Museum, the Coyote Hills Park archaeological site, or other relevant spots.

At a Monday night session, the committee firmed up a budget which will be submitted to the state. Originally, they had identified 53 Native American students in the schools who could benefit from a special program and had been allotted $4,000. Later, they found another 19 students and are now being allowed $5,000 for their program.

The funds are authorized under the Indian Education Act of 1972. According to Bardellini, the school district been hoping to start a program for the past three years, but applications and information always arrived just a week or two before the application deadline and there wasn't time to get a committee together to make plans.

This year, the administrator determined to get a jump on the deadline, and organized a committee early in the year. By the time the federal materials arrived — late as usual — the group was ready with its plans, guided by all the old materials they had saved up from previous years.

A moderate group, committee members seemed to agree to avoid association with militant Native American organizations and to stick to perpetuating their culture without getting involved in political activities.

Besides their $175-a-month rental, they budgeted $300 for field trips, figuring they could take four busloads of children as far as Oakland for that sum. Using a school district bus, it costs $4 an hour for the driver, 45 cents a mile to run it, plus bridge tolls, parking and possibly admission fees.

They budgeted $500 for conference expenses, reasoning that they would benefit by finding out what other groups are accomplishing with similar programs.

They budgeted $600 for books, artifacts, records and other supplies, $600 for utilities and $893 for "equipment," which will include whatever sofas, rugs, desks, chairs and bookcases they can't get by donation.

They plan to keep the center open entirely with volunteer supervision.

The Native American center is just the first in a long list of projects the group hopes to accomplish in the coming years to increase their children's pride in their background; update teacher information; provide special counseling; provide a good learning environment; provide materials and speakers for classrooms; provide a good foundation in basic skills; and offer scholarships to needy students

In cooperation with the new program, the school district is hoping to get a grant to kick off a series of Native American lectures through the Adult School.

A list of possible speakers is already being perused. Credit would be offered to teachers who go to all 10 lectures, which would be held in the evening beginning in October.

In addition, district media specialist Tom Heinemann has agreed to videotape all the presentations so they can be re-run privately whenever desired. The district has its own videotape and closed circuit TV system.

Budget for the lecture series is $1,500, including $100 fee for each speaker, $150 to pay mileage expenses, $100 for publicity expenses amd $250 for videotapes.

Gate up 22 per cent

Alameda fair sets record

When the lights went out for the final time last Sunday at the Alameda County Fair, it signalled the close of the most remarkable season in the 63-year history of the Fair.

According to Fair Board President Tom Kitayama, paid attendance in the 15 days of the 1975 Fair reached 335,818— an increase of 22 per cent over the 262,265 paid admissions in 1974. Overall attendance at the Fair reached a record 433,381 persons who came through the turnstiles between June 29 and July 13. This was 51,090 more people (11.3 per cent) than in 1974, itself a record-breaking year, when 382,291 entered the grounds.

Biggest day for attendance in 1975 was, as in past years, July 4, when 65,664 streamed through— an 8 per cent boost over the July 4, 1974, crowd of 60,633. The following day, July 5, there were 47,470 people at the Fair— a 16 per cent hike over the 40,011 a year earlier.

Attendance at the grandstand soared to new peaks this year, with 122,688 recorded this time around and 112,125 last year, up by 9.4 per cent. On July 4, a record total of 18,491 crowded into the grandstand, compared with 17,019 a year earlier.

Some of the most spectacular gains were documented in the parimutuel betting. The grand total for the 1975 season of 12 days of betting was $11,828,590, or barely short of $1 million in wagers each day, a new track record. This represented a 10.3 per cent boost over the $10,720,512 wagered in the 12-day racing program of 1974, at that time an all-time high. On July 4 this year, betting windows took in a new record of $1,360,610. The next day, this new high was smashed when $1,384,267 was wagered. And on July 12, the last day of the 1975 racing program, a new standard was set when $1,429,428 was placed on the horses.

The Annual Junior Livestock Auction was another success chalked up for the 1975 Fair. Although the total gross revenue at $103,488 was slightly down from last year's $106,901, there were fewer steers sold in the the 1975 auction, so that individual prices for each animal was up over last year.

LIVERMORE - City police officers will patrol First Street — traditionally a hotbed of teenage cruisers — on foot over the summer weekends.

The department tried out the walking idea last weekend and it proved to be successful, according to City Manager Bill Parness.

SSI recipients aren't eligible

Recent news reports which indicate that recipients of Supplemental Security Income in California are now eligible for food stamps are incorrect, according to the Alameda County Human Resources Agency.

California is one of five states where low-income aged, blind and disabled persons who receive Supplemental Security Income payments do not receive food stamps. In this state, the bonus value of the food stamps is included in the SSI payments.
